Mr. Colin Davies,

He is CEO of the company now called the Allgon group.

Allgon Group has under its banner Allgon Pest Control, which has been operating for 39 years, and Allgon Decontamination, which has been serving for 15 years. Allgon International has been working for ten years. These are the leading companies. There are smaller ventures as well.

Allgon Pest Control [Sri Lanka] has been operating for three years. Sri Lanka, Due to the state of Covid, then the collapse of the economy, has been working to help people who are struggling and desperate. The employees are still paid and have been for three years, even though the company has not been paid for what has been done; under the direction of Colin Davies, The company has provided the people with food grown from what is called the Allgon garden, the managers and employees have been helping every way possible with the local people to make life a little less unbearable. The company and Colin Davies are immensely proud of this and a large amount other achievements with the environmental issues that are in these countries.

Colin Davies has invented and developed methods in Australia and Countries such as Maldives, Sri Lanka, Philippines, to fight against the destruction of the environment and disease caused by mosquitos and other agricultural pests Maldives Had, on one of the islands, a Dengue Fever outbreak. Over 98% of the staff and visitors on one of the main islands were affected by this fever. The system, which Colin Davies developed in one year, stopped the outbreak of dengue fever and brought it down to 0%, which was by using an integrated system and an app that was developed by Colin Davies and Sri Lankan military personnel who oversaw cyber security. The person in charge of cyber security helped immensely in developing the app so we could monitor and cut down by 75% the use of chemicals. The cancer rate in children in both countries has doubled in five years. Colin Davies hopes to effectively work with government officials and help them understand and use systems that will cut down the use of aggressive chemicals in agricultural, commercial, and domestic. Colin Has spent a lifetime developing better treatment methods in not only his knowledge base but other industries in Countries where less fortunate people suffer from health and death caused by poor education of farmers and employees who use chemicals. And Companies that put profit more than anything else.

Colin Davies left school at 14 years old, and both parents were sick, so Colin went to work with only a grade 8 education. There were no jobs but physically demanding and very poorly paid ones.

Colin always struggled at school as he had an extremely fast brain which they now call ADHD, and along with most people who suffer from that, dyslexia is one of the other things that go hand in hand. After many years of working in different industries, Colin Davies found a field of work that he knew was right for him. Colin Davies is self-taught and has learned so many things by doing the work that is required, and he also started a one-person company. Over the past 39 years has formed a group of companies. Colin Davies has Learned and studied business development, and in this time, has started international companies. Has consulted with large companies in Dubai, Maldives, Sri Lanka, Philippines, Indonesia.

Has gone from a one-person operation to controlling global companies with over 100 employees.

The company started with the sale of a bench press which is a bit of gym equipment that sold for 182 Australian dollars, and a small loan.

The combined sales and income of companies is in the millions of dollars per annum and have grown every year since the first year of starting 39 years ago.

During this time: Colin Davies has always put the people that he works with more than anything else. He has tried to look after people. Without people, companies do not prosper without education and persistence; the people do not get motivated to help the company, which in turn helps them.

The company, including Colin Davies, strives to become a company that shares its goals, profits, innovation, future, and knowledge.

The company, from its humble beginnings, did start with a total amount of 682 Australian dollars. People ask Colin Davies all the time how the company started and how the growth is still developing every year. Colin Davies always says it began with humble beginnings and hard work, but Allgon and people will never stop developing, believing, and moving forward, starting the business in what most highly educated people truly believe would never work. It has been one of the most satisfying achievements that Colin Davies states have happened so far, and Colin Davies has said that if you do not know how to do the most basic tasks, how do you learn to do the most advanced task? a CEO is not only about running companies and giving managers tasks is then making maximum amounts of profit without any thought about the effects on the people, the environment and what people will associate the CEO and the company with. Colin Davies stated clearly that he has followed the most amazing people on LinkedIn and is learned so much from some of the CEOs like Richard Branson, whom Colin Davies states are s his most respected CEO. He also does things that most people say would never work. But he has strived and tried to do it all with honor. Colin Davies states that he has only ever done things in business and personal life with integrity and honesty.
